

Conscious Leadership

- Conscious leaders are aware of their impact on the world and act accordingly
- Conscious leaders stay true to their values and their organization is in line with those values

As described by John Renesch, conscious leaders are:
self-reflective well-integrated (body, mind, heart, soul) collaborative emotionally mature spiritually courageous systems thinkers
aware of tensions building

Consciously-led businesses ask why their business exists, what it is trying to accomplish, and what core values drive the organization

Conscious organizations value the humanity of their members and stakeholders

A conscious organization includes:

Trust

Authenticity

Transparency

Integrity

Learning

Empowerment

Self-managing teams

Fairness

Personal growth

Care

Love
